Statement of Purpose and Presentation

To: The Right Reverend James L. Davis, Presiding Prelate; Mother Arelis B. Davis, Episcopal Supervisor; Presiding Elders; Pastors; Clergy; Lay Leaders; and Members of the Seventh Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Church

With profound gratitude and a deep commitment to strengthening families and communities throughout our Zion, the Family Life Committee is honored to present the 2026 Seventh Episcopal District Family Life Resource Guide.

This comprehensive guide has been thoughtfully compiled to serve as a practical, accessible, and compassionate resource for the six Annual Conferences comprising the Seventh Episcopal District. Its primary purpose is to equip our presiding elders, pastors, congregational leaders, families, and individuals with essential information regarding community-based services and assistance programs that address the spiritual, emotional, mental, physical, social, and economic challenges affecting individuals and families.

Recognizing that the ministry of the Church extends beyond the walls of our sanctuaries, this guide reflects our collective commitment to providing meaningful pastoral care, strengthening family stability, promoting emotional wellness, and connecting those in need with available resources.

The Family Life Resource Guide is designed to serve several important purposes:

Support Pastoral Care and Congregational Ministry: Provide pastors, clergy, and church leaders with a reliable reference tool to assist individuals and families experiencing personal crises, emotional distress, financial hardships, or other challenging life circumstances.

Promote Mental Health and Emotional Wellness: Identify counseling services, mental health professionals, crisis intervention resources, and community support programs that can assist individuals and families facing emotional, psychological, and behavioral health concerns.

Address Essential Family and Household Needs: Connect families with organizations offering emergency financial assistance, utility assistance, food distribution, housing support, and other services necessary to maintain household stability and personal well-being.

Strengthen Community Partnerships: Encourage local congregations to establish and maintain collaborative relationships with community agencies, nonprofit organizations, service providers, and other institutions dedicated to meeting the needs of vulnerable populations.

Encourage Proactive Ministry and Outreach: Empower our churches to identify emerging needs within their congregations and surrounding communities and respond with compassion, practical assistance, and appropriate referrals.

Establish a District-Wide Network of Support: Create a unified resource reference that can be utilized throughout all six Annual Conferences, ensuring that congregations have access to information about available services within their respective geographic communities.

How This Guide Should Be Used

This document is intended to be a working resource for presiding elders, pastors, church ministries, Family Life Committees, and congregational leaders. When individuals or families express a need for assistance, church leadership may consult the appropriate Annual Conference resource directory to identify agencies, programs, or professional services that may provide the necessary support.

The guide should also be used to strengthen local church outreach initiatives, inform educational workshops, support family enrichment programs, and enhance the Church's ability to respond effectively to the changing needs of the communities we serve.

Because community resources, eligibility requirements, and available services may change, users are encouraged to contact the listed providers directly to verify current information and service availability. All referrals should be handled with sensitivity, compassion, confidentiality, and respect for the dignity of those seeking assistance. Mental health emergencies and other immediate threats to safety should be directed to qualified emergency or crisis-response professionals.

Our Commitment to Family and Community

The Family Life Committee believes that healthy families are foundational to healthy churches, and healthy churches are essential to thriving communities. This resource guide represents more than a compilation of agencies and services; it is a tangible expression of the Church's commitment to ministering to the whole person and responding to human needs with the love of Christ.

It is our sincere prayer that this guide will become a valuable instrument of hope, healing, restoration, and empowerment throughout the Seventh Episcopal District. May it inspire our congregations to move beyond awareness into meaningful action, ensuring that individuals and families facing difficult circumstances know that they are not alone and that help, encouragement, and support are within reach.

We respectfully submit this resource guide to Bishop James L. Davis, Mother Arelis B. Davis, and the leadership and membership of the Seventh Episcopal District, with gratitude for their continued commitment to strengthening families, nurturing communities, and advancing the mission of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

Respectfully submitted,

The Family Life Committee

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION FOR PASTORS & DELEGATES ACROSS THE DISTRICT:

We recommend that every church across all six Annual Conferences in the Seventh Episcopal District keep this comprehensive resource guide accessible. Emotional, mental health, and material struggles affect households in every county; having these localized counseling and support assets ensures our church ministries in the Seventh Episcopal District provides holistic, life-giving care.

Humbly Submitted,

The Family Life Committee
